Livestock.

Louisville, Oct. 12.—Cattle—The receipts of cattle were 4,113 head. There was a very good attendance of buyers on the yards, both local and foreign, but the trade was rather slow from start to finish. Strictly choice finished butcher cattle were about steady, but all medium and inferior kinds were dull and draggy and mostly 10@15c lower than a week ago; there was a good demand for high-grade feeders and high class stock cattle, the "top notchers," selling about steady; medium, plain and common grades were slow sale and easily 10@15c lower than a week ago. Bulls were steady; canners dull and lower. Milch cows unchanged. The feeling was about steady on prime heavy shipping cattle; medium and light shipping steers were slow to a shade lower. The pens were not entirely cleared and the market closed dull.

Calves—Receipts 229 head. Choice calves were firm and higher, the best 7 1/2@8c, but medium and common calves were extremely dull and lower, medium 5@6c, common 2 1/2@4 1/2c.

Hogs—Receipts 3,419 head. The market opened firm and 10c higher on choice corn-fed hogs, selected 165 pounds and up, selling at $7.60@7.70; lights, 130 to 165 pounds $7.15.

YOUNG MEN WANTED.

PITTSBURG WON

THE THIRD GAME

WEATHER CONDITIONS AT DETROIT WERE FRIGHTFUL.

Wagner Was Star Player but Bush and Deleahanty Made Excellent Showings.

THE GAME WAS A BATFEST

Detroit, Oct. 12.—Pittsburg defeated Detroit, 8 to 6, in one of the most spectacular and fiercely contested games ever played in the world's championship series. This gives Pittsburg a margin of two games to one. Detroit, however, showed in the final innings that it is far from hopelessly beaten. The weather conditions were frightful. Rain fell frequently during the game several times in hard showers.

Despite the wretched weather the attendance was 18,277, and broke all local records for the two world's series here.

Five in the First.

Pittsburg jumped into the lead by scoring five runs in the first inning. They batted Summers out of the box aided by some poor fielding. Another run in the second inning made the game look safe for the visitors. Detroit, however, made one of the greatest rallies ever seen, scoring four runs in the seventh inning, batting Maddox hard, and playing like fiends. Pittsburg connected with some of Work's curves in the ninth inning for two runs. With the score 8 to 4 against it, the Detroit team even then did not realize that it was beaten, and smashed out two more runs in the last inning. Had Crawford been able to hit up to his usual mark the result would have been different.

Detroit outbatted Pittsburg by a margin of one run, getting 12 to the inner's 11. Summers started to pitch for the locals but was removed before the end of the first inning. Willett succeeded him, and did well until he was taken out to allow McIntyre to bat for him in the seventh. McIntyre struck out. Works, who then went in was lucky in the eighth after Abstein made a two-base hit with but one out. The next two were easy outs. In the ninth Pittsburg landed on him for three hits that clinched the game for them. Had Jennings sent in a more experienced pitcher in such a situation he might have secured at least a tie.

Maddox was on the rubber for Pittsburg, and was hit hard in the closing innings, although Detroit could do nothing with him in the early sessions. When the American leaguers did start to hit him, they landed hard and often, but Manager Clarke left Maddox in because of the lead his team had.

Wagner Was Star.

Wagner was the star of the game but he was forced to share some of the honors with Owen Bush and Deleahanty, of the locals. Wagner made four hits and stole four bases, although Catcher Schmidt was not to blame for at least one of these thefts.

Besides his hitting and base running, Wagner beat out a hit to Bush stole second and went to third on Schmidt's abd throw to second. He then scored on a wild pitch. In the second he reached first on a fielder's choice and on a double steal went to third while Leach was stealing home. In the fifth he singled just out of Tom Jones' reach and stole second. Wagner singled to left in the seventh but was caught trying to steal second. Schmidt to Bush. In the ninth he again singled and stole second, while Leach was on third waiting to score. Schmidt did not throw to catch Wagner this time, however, until he ascertained that Leach would not try to score.

Bush and Deleahanty were bright spots in the Detroiters in batting while Cobb and Crawford made great catches. Bush made four hits in five times at bat. Two of them played an important part in the scoring. Deleahanty was there with two two-baggers and a single in five times at bat. His third hit, a double in the seventh, started the rally.

While Crawford starred in the field his work at the bat was feeble and he missed two excellent chances to swing the tide of victory toward Detroit. He ended the rally in the seventh inning by a puny pop fly to Abstein with two men on bases. In the ninth he again had a chance, with Cobb on second, but his best was a feeble bouncer to Wagner.

Cobb made a two-bagger and a single that were important factors in Detroit's rally. His single in the seventh scored one run, and his double in the ninth sent in two more.

The ground rules brought about a long conference between Umpires O'Loughlin and Johnstone and members of the national commission, and an innovation was made by sending Umpire Klem, who was not scheduled to work today, out along the right field foul line to watch hits into the crowd and act in an advisory capacity to the other two umpires.

How the First Went.

The first inning was a weird spectacle for the local enthusiasts. When it was over hope was nearly dead for the Detroit victory. Byrne beat out a hit along third base line, and went to third when Leach singled to center. Clarke sent a grounder to Summers. Byrne was caught between third and home, Summers to Moriarty to Schmidt to Bush. Leach went to third and Clarke to second during causes nine-tenths of all sickness. Indigestion followed by headache, general listlessness, dependency, enfeebled action of the mind and body, cold, clammy feet and hands and paleness are sure signs of poor circulation. If not taken in time, serious trouble will follow. That tired feeling comes from sluggish blood.

The chase. Wagner's hit was too hot for Bush and he rolled to left field while Leach and Clarke scored. Wagner stole second, went to third on Schmidt's abd throw to second and scored on a wild pitch. Miller drew a base on balls and Abstein singled to center. Miller scoring when Crawford made a bad throw to third. Abstein moved to third on the same error. Willett went in to pitch. Wilson shot a single to center and scored. Abstein, Gibson and Maddox finished the inning with easy outs.

Pittsburg scored another run in the second. With one out, Willett hit Leach on the hand and Clarke on the knee. Wagner forced Clarke out at second. Bush to Deleahanty, and Leach moved to third. On a double steal Leach scored and Wagner went to third. Miller ended the inning with a pop fly to Deleahanty.

Detroit was practically helpless before Maddox until the seventh when a rally netted four runs. Deleahanty opened the inning with a two-bagger to center and Moriarty was safe when Miller fumbled his grounder. Deleahanty going to third. Tom Jones singled to right, scoring Deleahanty and putting Moriarty on second. Schmidt fouled to Bryne and McIntyre, who batted for Willett, struck out. D. Jones beat out a bunt along third base line filling the bases. Bush singled just beyond reach of Wagner and Moriarty and Tom Jones scored. Cobb singled to second scoring. D. Jones, but Crawford ended the inning with a fly to Abstein.

Each team scored two runs in the fifth. For Pittsburg, Maddox struck out as a starter, but Byrne singled to center. Leach put a two-bagger into the left field crowd, and Byrne went to third. Cobb then made a great catch of Clarke's fly, and Byrne beat the throw to the plate. Wagner's single to right scoring Leach, and another star catch by Cobb of Miller's long fly ended the inning.

Detroit made a game effort to tie the score in the ninth. Mullin batted for Works to start the ninth and struck out. The Detroit hopes started to rise when Abstein dropped Wagner's brilliant assist on D. Jones' grounder. Bush beat out a hit to Byrne and both scored when Cobb doubled to the right field overfow. Crawford was easy, however, Wagner to Abstein and Clarke made a star catch of Deleahanty's short fly.

The receipts today were $20,676 divided as follows: National commission $2,067.60; players $11,165.91; two clubs $7,443.36.

Score: R H E
Detroit..... 6 12 3

Bush Is Toasted.
Pittsburg Pa., Oct. 12.—At break fast in the Colonial Annex Saturday morning the Tigers toasted "Owlie" Bush on the occasion of his twenty-first birthday. Few and far between are the shortstops 21 years of age in Bush's class.

Cobb outshone Hans Wagner in the second game by many degrees. The dashing Georgian hit the ball on the nose, and his base running was wonderful. In speed and determination together with baseball brains and a keen instinct for taking the right chance at the right time, he is the class of the country. His work on the bases was remarkable. His steal of home was one of the cleverest things ever pulled off on any lot. Willets had just gone to the box, and was standing there preparing to deliver the ball, when Cobb came in like a gray streak. He had timed the play precisely right, and he took everyone on the field by surprise. It was pretty close at that, but he was safe far enough to prevent the Pirates from doing any kicking.

As a matter of fact, Pittsburg got only four hits. Hans Wagner, who was very nearly helpless at the bat was given one in the ninth by liberal scoring. He hit an ordinary grounder to Tom Jones, who is not much of a fielder, and who played the ball badly, allowing it to bounce off his shins. It was a poor kind of a hit but the official scorer gave the Flying Dutchman the benefit of whatever doubt there was. Donovan had an easy game after his team went to the front in the third. The Pirates had two or three chances to work one around, but they were so far behind that whenever a man got on they had to work for a big rally, and Wild Bill was able to block their efforts.

BURGLAR BUSY

IN THE DAYTIME

BREAKS INTO RESIDENCE OF W. C. GRAY MONDAY.

He Ransacked the Whole House but Nothing Valuable Has Been Found Missing.

NO CLUE TO HIS IDENTITY

The residence of W. C. Gray, 515 Madison street was entered yesterday afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock by a bold thief, who ransacked the drawers and closets and escaped unseen by any of the neighbors. The discovery was made by Mrs. Gray at 4 o'clock when she returned home from attending a church society. An investigation showed that the thief had effected entrance through the kitchen door by breaking the door lock. The interior of the house was turned topsy turvy but no valuables were missed by Mrs. Gray. The thief was evidently bent on finding money. No clue as to his identity has been secured by the police.

She Was Pleasantly Surprised.

The first few doses of Foley's Kidney Pills gave me relief, and two bottles cured me. The quick results surprised me and I can honestly recommend them. Gilbert's Drug store."

Baseball
Wagner World's Best Player Says Cobb.

Tyrus Cobb, the wonderful Detroit player who has been touted as the only possible rival of Hans Wagner in baseball, has taken Pittsburg by storm. Shortly after his arrival Cobb, in an interview, declared that the greatest living ball player was Hans Wagner, but that he himself hoped to be as great some day.

This tribute to Wagner by the king player of the rival league has made the city Cobb's own. In part Cobb said:

"While I have never seen Hans Wagner in action, I have followed his game closely, and I am satisfied that he is the greatest living ball player. He cannot be otherwise, else he would have worn out with the public long before now. My hope is that I may one day be as great a player as Wagner and that I may have as firm a hold on the people of my own town and of my league as has this wonderful player."

News of Theatres

When Manager William A. Brady's press representative coined the phrase "the play that will live forever," which he makes free to use anent "Way Down East," which comes to The Kentucky Thursday night, many wise heads thought him to be a trifle premature, but he was not far wrong. The celebrated rural play has already seen twelve seasons, and that length of time in things theatrical brings a play to old age. But "Way Down East" is not even thought of as outliving its usefulness. It is in just as great demand as ever.

The company presenting this play is booked solid for three years to come, and even yet there are many large cities and towns throughout the country where the play has not been seen. Managers of the city theaters book the play again and again. Undoubtedly the majority of their patrons have seen the play, but there is a certain fascination that fetches them to the theaters for the second or even the third season. At The Kentucky Thursday, October 14.

One of the merriest musical comedies on the road will be at The Kentucky Wednesday evening when "Fluffy Ruffles" could win recognition as a comedy alone. The addition of clever lyrics and tuneful music makes a combination that ensures its being a favorite with theatergoers for several seasons to come.

If you like buck and wing dancing see Jack King and the Little Perry sisters in their fancy trick buck and wing dancing with "Kidnaped for a Million" company at The Kentucky matinee and night October 16.
